UNITED FREE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND

ISSUED BY AUTHORITY.

RECOMMENDED FOR USE BY THE SYNOD OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF ENGLAND, 1909.

LONDON: NOVELLO AND COMPANY, LIMITED.
MADE IN ENGLAND

PREFACE.

After the union of the Free and United Presbyterian Churches in 1900, a desire was expressed that a Book of Anthems should be prepared for use in the congregations of the United Church, and accordingly, in 1902, the General Assembly remitted to the Praise Committee "to prepare and issue an Anthem Book for use in congregations."

In carrying out this remit the Committee have judged it expedient to restrict the collection to anthems in the rendering of which the congregation, as well as the choir, may take part. They have endeavoured to provide an adequate supply of material suited to the needs of the many congregations of the church where it is desirable that the music employed should be of a somewhat simple nature; but they have also included compositions presenting greater degrees of difficulty to meet the requirements of congregations of higher musical attainments.

The anthems have been arranged according to their opening texts in the order of the books of Scripture, those with words not taken from Scripture being placed at the end; but for convenience in selection, a classified index has been added, in which the anthems are arranged according to topics.

The Committee desire to express their great indebtedness to the Sub-Committee by whom the book has been compiled, and specially to the Convener, Mr. William Cowan; they are also indebted to Mr. F. G. Edwards, London, for the care and attention bestowed by him on the preparation of the book for the press and the revision of the proofs, and to Dr. W. G. McNaught for similar services rendered in connection with the Sol-fa edition.

The collection is now issued by the Committee in the fervent hope that its use may stimulate devotion, and add variety and interest to the service of praise.

April, 1905.
